NATIONAL MEDALS OF THE UNITED STATES

Throughout recorded history, medals have been prized for their artistic beauty and as cultural symbols of the age in which they were struck. Since it was created in 1792, the Mint has struck the national medals of the United States honoring its Presidents, Secretaries of the Treasury, Directors of the Mint, Army and Navy leaders and heroes and other Americans who have distinguished themselves in service to the country. Many of the engravers of these medals were responsible for the designs of past and present coins.

Most recently the Mint completed reduction of all the dies of its Presidential medal series which will permit the Philadelphia and Denver Mints each to strike in bronze the official medals of our Presidents in miniature, 1 5/16", size with the appropriate mintmark thereon.

For further information about the miniature Presidential medal series of the Philadelphia and Denver Mints as well as all other national medals produced by the United States Mint, please complete the name and address section of this form and mail to:

AMERICAN REVOLUTION BICENTENNIAL COMMISSION

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission (ARBC), a Commission established by Congress to plan, encourage, develop, and coordinate the 200th anniversary of our Nation, is proud to announce the first in an annual series of Congressionally approved National Commemorative Medals to be struck by the U. S. Mint. There will be a commemorative medal issued each year from 1972 to the focal year of the Bicentennial, 1976.

The medal will be of bronze, approximately 1-1/2" in diameter. The obverse will feature the famous Houdon bust of George Washington and will thus be most appropriate for the initial Bicentennial Commemorative Medal; the words American Revolution Bicentennial and the official symbol of the Bicentennial Commission will be inscribed. The reverse will depict events of historical significance related to the struggle for freedom in the early days of the Revolutionary Era. The medal will be enclosed in a new innovative case as shown on the opposite side of this card. The price of the medal and its display case is $3.50 each, which also includes an insured mailing fee.

Orders are now being accepted for this medal. Please use the enclosed order form card, inserting same in the enclosed return envelope.

The maximum for each order card is four medals. Make check or money order payable to the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. All order cards must be postmarked before October 30, 1972. Orders will be filled starting early in November 1972.

The official 1972 ARBC bronze medal is enclosed in a see through plastic capsule, inserted in the case and surrounded by blue flocking. The black case is approximately 3½ by 2¾ inches, with the ARBC logo appearing on the cover of the case in three colors. As shown in the photograph the case is not only a holder for the commemorative medal but also a self display case in which both sides of the medal can be viewed.

AMERICAN REVOLUTION BICENTENNIAL COMMISSION

The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission (ARBC), a Commission established by Congress to plan, encourage, develop, and coordinate the 200th anniversary of our Nation, is proud to announce the first in an annual series of Congressionally approved National Commemorative Medals to be struck by the U. S. Mint. There will be a commemorative medal as well as commemorative stamps issued each July 4th between 1972 and the focal year of the Bicentennial, 1976 and possibly thru 1983.

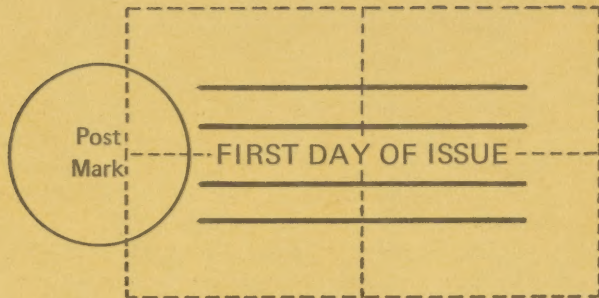

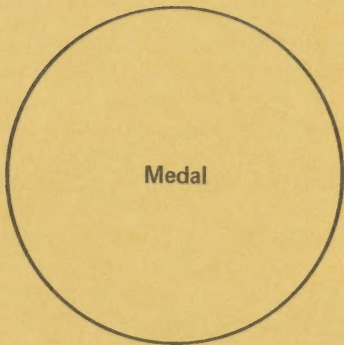

The first day of issue of this initial medal will be July 4, 1972. This will coincide with the first day of issue, postmarked from an appropriate historical location, of the 1972 set of Bicentennial Commemorative Stamps. The ARBC, the U. S. Mint and the U. S. Postal Service are coordinating their efforts to create a Philatelic-Numismatic Combination (PNC) envelope as illustrated on the reverse side of this card.

Orders are now being accepted for this PNC. Please use the enclosed order form card, inserting same in the enclosed return envelope.

The Commemorative Stamps will honor Colonial Craftsmen of the American Revolution Era. The Commemorative Stamps will be of commemorative size (15/16" x 1-1/6"); this year there will be four stamps, each one depicting a specific craft. The Medal will be of bronze, approximately 1-1/2" in diameter. The obverse will feature the famous Houdon bust of George Washington and will thus be most appropriate for the initial Bicentennial Commemorative Medal; the words American Revolution Bicentennial and the official symbol of the Bicentennial Commission will be inscribed. The reverse will depict events of historical significance related to the struggle for freedom in the early days of the Revolutionary Era.

The PNC envelope will have a plastic window thus displaying both sides of the medal. The four stamps will be affixed to the envelope and bear the official U. S. P. S. first day of issue cancellation.
